

EXPERIENTIAL PARTNERSHIP PROPOSAL

Silver Lake Mall

A Live Equine Activation That Drives Foot Traffic, Extends Dwell Time, and Generates Organic Social Reach

Prepared for: Silver Lake Mall / Black Sheep Properties

Presented by: Tribal Cowboy LLC — Stacie Huffhines, Owner

Date: March 2026

Location: Coeur d'Alene, Idaho

THE OPPORTUNITY

An Activation That Works While You Watch

- › Silver Lake Mall has the foot traffic. Tribal Cowboy has the horses.
- › Fully managed equine activation — extends dwell time, drives tenant spend, no mall staff needed.
- › Every guest photo carries the Silver Lake Mall logo and circulates on social for days after the event.

THE CORE IDEA

Bring Clydesdales, ponies, and an instant branded photo system into the mall. Guests ride, photograph, and share. Silver Lake Mall is in every post.

WHY THIS IS EASY TO APPROVE

- ✓ $2M liability insurance — COI names mall as additionally insured
- ✓ Zero mall staff required — we handle everything
- ✓ Fully enclosed panels — no loose animals, ever
- ✓ CCPA-aligned photo system — no PII stored or retained
- ✓ Start with one event — scale only if you want to

THE MALL ADVANTAGE

Why This Delivers More Than a Retail Activation

Tribal Cowboy activates at outdoor retail venues — those events perform well. But the audience is pre-selected. Silver Lake Mall is a different category: broader, higher volume, and far more likely to post. The surprise of horses at a mall is what drives organic reach.

Factor	Outdoor & Farm Retail	Silver Lake Mall
 Foot Traffic	Rural/ag customer base — pre-selected audience	Mall-level volume — families, tourists, general public
 Audience Profile	Ag/outdoor enthusiasts — already horse-adjacent	First-time horse experiences — maximum emotional impact
 Social Sharing	Moderate — familiar demographic	High — unexpected setting amplifies shareability
 Media Interest	Low — expected at that venue type	High — "Horses at the mall" is a local news story
 Mall Brand Lift	None — benefits the retailer only	Positions mall as the experiential destination in CDA
 Repeat Visits	Low — single-purpose trip	High — families return specifically for event dates
 Co-Marketing	Limited retail channel	Mall email list, signage, social, digital — full stack

THE DIFFERENTIATOR

When horses show up at a farm store, it's expected. When horses show up at Silver Lake Mall, people stop, photograph, tag, and tell their friends. The surprise is the strategy.

OUR TRACK RECORD IN THE CDA COMMUNITY

Already Operating in Your Backyard

Tribal Cowboy is not a traveling roadshow. It is a North Idaho equine experience business that has been quietly building trust with families, schools, and community organizers across the region for years. Silver Lake Mall would not be "testing horses at a mall for the first time" — you would be partnering with an operator that has already managed horses safely in high-traffic public spaces, shared parking lots, street parades, and early childhood education settings.

SEPTEMBER 2025

Church Event — Wagon Rides

Pony-driven wagon rides in a small shared lot — managing horses, wagon, and guest queues in a tight footprint very similar to a mall activation pad. Zero incidents.

2024 — FULL HERD ACTIVATION

Rathdrum Days — $2,000+

Full herd on-site — Clydesdales, ponies, and our zebra — operating safely all day in a crowded festival with constant foot traffic, vehicles, food vendors, and children moving in and out.

REPEAT VENDOR — MULTIPLE YEARS

Make It Messy — $2,500

Recurring family event series — Hayden, Idaho

Two sold-out sessions of 40 per session (50+ in practice).
$25/person: 2-hour session + pony ride. 100+ guests = $2,500 total event revenue generated. Zero incidents.

TOWN PARADES

Spirit Lake, Rathdrum, and Coeur d'Alene — horses and wagon along city streets, integrated into parade staging and dense sidewalk crowds.

FARMERS MARKETS

Rathdrum farmers markets — bringing horses into mixed-use public areas where space, sightlines, and pedestrian flow all have to be actively managed.

PRIVATE PARTIES

Birthday events and pony parties at homes — self-contained pony loops and photo areas set up and torn down without burdening the host family.

PRESCHOOL PROGRAMS

Three years of return visits to the same preschools, grown strictly by word of mouth. Safety, education, and trust kept above volume and pricing.

PRIMARY OPERATING REGION

THE OPERATIONAL FOUNDATION BEHIND THIS PROPOSAL

- ✓ High-traffic public spaces
- ✓ Shared parking lots and church grounds
- ✓ Street parades and festival environments
- ✓ Early childhood education settings and private homes

Early events were intentionally priced below market to validate operations, refine the photo system, and build a zero-incident track record. Current partnership pricing reflects the proven model.

THE BUSINESS CASE

What Silver Lake Mall Gets in Return

This is not an event cost. It is a customer acquisition and retention tool that generates measurable value across traffic, dwell time, media, and tenant performance.

15–20 RIDES PER HOUR	60–120 FAMILIES PER 4-HOUR EVENT	10–20 min AVG WAIT = BROWSING TIME	100+ BRANDED PHOTOS PER EVENT (confirmed at Make It Messy)
--------------------------------	--	--	--

Incremental Foot Traffic

Families visit specifically for the horses — not incidentally. Every incremental visitor drives spend in retail, food, and services.

Extended Dwell Time

Pony rides generate queues. Waiting families browse. McKinsey links experience-led retail to 2–7% sales lift — dwell time is the strongest predictor of per-visit spend.

Organic Social Reach

Every photo carries the Silver Lake Mall logo. When guests post, the mall earns branded impressions across Instagram, Facebook, and TikTok at zero cost — circulating for days after the event closes.

Earned Media Coverage

"Horses at the mall" is a local news story. CDA Press, KREM 2, and regional lifestyle media will cover a well-executed activation.

Tenant Co-Marketing

The activation can be co-promoted with anchor tenants and restaurants, driving targeted traffic to specific stores on event days. A direct, tangible benefit you can present to your tenant mix.

Market Differentiation

No mall in North Idaho or Eastern Washington is running live equine activations. This positions Silver Lake as the region's experiential destination — defensible and durable.

COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIP

Partnering with an Indigenous-owned business gives the mall an authentic community story that resonates with regional values and supports genuine local economic development.

THE AMPLIFICATION STRATEGY

Before, During, and After — Every Phase Drives the Mall

The event itself is not the full campaign. The three phases below are how a single activation day compounds into weeks of visibility for Silver Lake Mall.

PHASE 1 — BEFORE

Build the Anticipation

- ✓ Email blast + social posts 2–3 weeks out: "The horses are coming to Silver Lake Mall"
- ✓ Tribal Cowboy countdown content tagging @SilverLakeMall across Instagram, Facebook, and TikTok
- ✓ Press release pitched to CDA Press, KREM 2, and local family influencers — seeded before event day

PHASE 2 — DURING

Capture Everything

- ✓ Every guest photo delivered instantly, branded with Silver Lake Mall logo — no app, no email
- ✓ Live stories from mall account and @TribalCowboy simultaneously; QR station prompts guests to tag @SilverLakeMall
- ✓ Pre-seeded local creators post live; any news crew can walk up — no coordination needed

WHY UGC WORKS

UGC generates 6.9x more engagement than brand content. Photo booth content = 40–60% of event hashtag volume. (Nosto, FeatureBooth, Salesforce)

PHASE 3 — AFTER

Extend the Shelf Life

- ✓ Tribal Cowboy delivers 5 edited event images to the mall within 7 days — any platform, any use
- ✓ Proof-of-performance summary: reach, photo shares, estimated impressions, incident log (if any)
- ✓ "See you at the next one" teaser — every event builds the next one's audience and makes the calendar easier to fill

THE COMPOUNDING EFFECT

A single activation day generates content that circulates for weeks. Each event builds the audience for the next one. The marketing value compounds with every date added to the calendar.

INVESTMENT OPTIONS

Three Ways to Partner

The mall pays a flat base fee. Guests pay $5 per pony ride — that revenue goes to Tribal Cowboy. Photos are $5 each, or one of your tenants can sponsor them flat, putting their brand on every image guests share online. Every tier includes full insurance, on-site safety staff, and all animal handling. No hidden costs.

Typical mall experiential activations run $5,000–$15,000. Our base fee model is intentionally priced as a low-risk entry point to prove performance — not a reflection of what it delivers. Limited to select dates due to animal scheduling and event capacity.

TIER 1

The Pop-Up

Single-day, targeted activation

$2,500 mall base fee · 4-hour window

INCLUDES

- ✓ Pony rides — controlled loop, $5/guest (Tribal Cowboy revenue)

- ✓ Branded photo overlays with Silver Lake Mall logo
- ✓ 2 handlers, full safety setup and fencing
- ✓ QR code delivery — no email, no app, no wait
- ✓ General liability insurance documentation

BEST FOR

End of school year, North Idaho Fair weekend, holiday pop-ups. Lower commitment, full experience.

- ✓ Revenue share structure available in lieu of flat fee

BEST FOR

Mall ownership and management teams seeking a differentiated, recurring experiential identity throughout the peak season.

HOW THE ACTIVATION PAYS FOR ITSELF

The mall's investment is the base fee. At 60–120 families per event, even a conservative $20–$40 per-family incremental spend across food and retail can offset the full activation cost in tenant revenue alone. For context: ICSC data shows average mall spend per visit ranging from $103 to $140+ — making $20–40 a floor, not a ceiling. A photo sponsorship costs one tenant $400–$600 flat and puts their brand on every image guests share. This is not a one-time event model — it is designed to be repeated, scaled, and built into a seasonal traffic strategy.

OPTIONAL ADD-ON

Ride Sponsorship — "Free Pony Rides"

The mall covers all pony rides — guests ride at no charge. Allows the mall to advertise "Free pony rides today," which is a significantly stronger foot traffic message than a ticketed model. Removes cash transactions on-site and simplifies the guest experience.

OPERATIONS & SAFETY

Controlled by Design. Zero Burden on Mall Staff.

SPACE REQUIREMENTS

Full three-zone setup requires a minimum 40' x 60' footprint — outdoor, covered, or a combination. Pony loop needs level ground. Clydesdale photo area: 15' x 20'. Photo delivery station works indoors or outdoors.

Tribal Cowboy will advise on optimal layout for Silver Lake's specific footprint — parking lot, entry corridor, or event lawn. We have operated in all three.

SETUP & TEARDOWN

Tribal Cowboy handles all setup and teardown. Arrival 2 hours before open. Teardown complete within 90 minutes of close. Animals arrive in Tribal Cowboy's own trailer and are managed exclusively by our handlers. No mall staff involvement required.

STAFFING

Every activation includes a minimum of 2 animal handlers, 1 photo delivery operator, and 1 guest flow coordinator. Staffing scales to event size. All Tribal Cowboy personnel are uniformed and branded throughout the event.

ANIMAL WELFARE STANDARDS

Our animals — not rented stock. Every activation follows our daily ranch protocols: no work above 90°F · 45-min max per pony · current vet certificates · SAVE Veterinary on-call · diaper bags on all animals · all animals pre-conditioned to crowds and music before deployment.

WHO WE ARE

Real Horses. Real Experience. Real People.

Tribal Cowboy LLC is an Indigenous-owned equine experience business in Athol, Idaho, operated by Stacie Huffhines — a Nisenan Maidu woman who has spent her life around horses. These are our animals. We know them by name. Every event is staffed by our own team.

THE PHOTO SYSTEM

Guests scan a QR code and find their photos instantly — no app, no email, no wait. Every image carries a custom branded frame with your logo, event name, and date. Photos circulate on social for days after the event. CCPA-aligned — no PII stored.

OUR HERD

Meet the Team

These animals are our partners, not props. They're calm, trained, and experienced in public activations.

- › The Clydesdales — Four purebred mares, each over 1,800 lbs. Gentle giants who stop every person in the room.
- › The Pony Herd — Working ponies for riders ages 3–10, 80 lbs or under. Comfortable in crowds, trained for public events.
- › All Animals — Current on health certificates, accustomed to music, crowds, and unfamiliar environments.

SERVICE AREA

North Idaho and Eastern Washington. Coeur d'Alene is our primary market. Silver Lake Mall is exactly where we want to be.

WHY THIS EXISTS

Horses should be accessible to everyone. Billy — Stacie's brother, who passed in March 2025 one week before his 48th birthday — had Down syndrome and spent his life in a world that didn't always make room for him. Tribal Cowboy is making that room. Every activation is fully accessible, and the business is building toward an indoor arena where people with Down syndrome can ride and work with horses on their own terms.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY

"My 8-year-old said 'that lady in Coeur d'Alene because she let us ride her horses and was nice.'"

— Parent, private session

"Thank you for giving kids a space to bond with animals."

— Repeat weekly lesson family, Coeur d'Alene

"The kids loved it. Thank you Stacie for all the love and kindness!"

WHAT DECISION-MAKERS ASK

Straight Answers to the Hard Questions

1. What if a child gets hurt?

No rider is ever on a pony unsupervised. Lead-line only — a handler holds the pony and controls all movement at every step. The enclosure, fencing, and rider weight limit (80 lbs max) are additional layers. National emergency room data shows 98.2% of equestrian injuries involve independent riding or being thrown — both of which are structurally impossible in our format. Tribal Cowboy carries $2M per-occurrence general liability insurance, and the Certificate of Insurance names Silver Lake Mall as additionally insured. An Emergency Action Plan is on file with your team before gates open.

2. What does the mall actually have to do?

Approve the event, designate a space, and promote it through your existing channels (email, social, signage). That's it. Tribal Cowboy handles all setup, teardown, animal handling, guest flow management, photo operations, permitting coordination, and post-event cleanup. No mall staff involvement is required on event day — not for animal handling, not for crowd management, not for photo delivery. You host the event. We run it.

3. How do you handle waste and sanitation in a retail environment?

All working animals wear diaper bags. The entire enclosed footprint is laid with ground cover or appropriate flooring that Tribal Cowboy brings and removes. Any waste is collected and removed by our team — no mall custodial involvement required. Setup and breakdown includes full cleanup of the activation area. We have operated in indoor/adjacent spaces before. This has never been an issue.

4. What if the weather doesn't cooperate or turnout is low?

The activation is designed for outdoor, covered, or combination footprints — we advise on optimal placement for Silver Lake's space during planning. For weather, we build a hold protocol into the Emergency Action Plan: activation pauses, animals are secured in the trailer, and resumes when conditions allow. If turnout is lower than projected, the fixed base fee is the mall's only cost — there's no performance penalty. A smaller first event still validates the model, generates content, and builds the audience for the next one.

5. What if parking lot or load-in logistics are complicated?

Tribal Cowboy arrives with our own truck and trailer — we need a designated unloading lane and access to the activation footprint, ideally accessible without crossing active pedestrian traffic. We scout the location in advance and advise on the cleanest approach. Our trailer fits in a standard commercial vehicle parking bay. If a vendor staging area exists, we use it. If not, we coordinate directly with your facilities team to identify the lowest-disruption load-in route. This is handled before event day — not improvised on arrival.

THE PILOT OFFER

One Event. Clear Results. No Guesswork.

Start with a single Tier 1 or Tier 2 activation — the founding event for what becomes a mall program. Success metrics defined upfront. Debrief scheduled before the event date. You know exactly what you're measuring before the horses arrive.

SILVER LAKE PILOT — PROJECTED EVENT MATH (based on Make It Messy [Hayden] and comparable family event activations)

Metric	Conservative	Expected	Strong Day
Families engaged	50–80	100–140	175+
Avg family incremental spend (food + retail)	$20	$30	$45
Est. same-day tenant revenue lift	$1,000–$1,600	$3,000–$4,200	$7,875+
Branded photos delivered & shared	50+	100+	175+

Tenant revenue figures are projected incremental spend, not total store revenue. The $20–$30/family assumption is conservative by design (ICSC avg. mall spend: $103–$140/visit). You know your actual traffic and average basket size better than any benchmark — if your numbers are higher, the math works harder. Make It Messy (Hayden, 100+ guests per activation) confirms photo delivery operational. Does not include repeat visit value, social reach, or tenant co-marketing lift.
